

COLUMBIANEWS

Office of Communications and Public Affairs
www.columbia.edu/news

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
APRIL 16, 2012

Media Contact:
Eric Sharfstein, es3106@columbia.edu and 212-854-6164
Twitter: #pulitzer

PULITZER PRIZES 2012

Columbia University today announced the 2012 Pulitzer Prizes, awarded on the recommendation of the Pulitzer Prize Board.

JOURNALISM

Public Service --

The Philadelphia Inquirer

Breaking News Reporting --

The Tuscaloosa (Ala.) News Staff

Investigative Reporting --

Matt Apuzzo, Adam Goldman, Eileen Sullivan and Chris Hawley of the Associated Press

and

Michael J. Berens and Ken Armstrong of The Seattle Times

Explanatory Reporting --

David Kocieniewski of The New York Times

Local Reporting --

Sara Ganim and members of The Patriot-News Staff, Harrisburg, Penn.

National Reporting --

David Wood of The Huffington Post

International Reporting --

Jeffrey Gettleman of The New York Times

Feature Writing --

Eli Sanders of The Stranger, a Seattle weekly

Commentary --

Mary Schmich of the Chicago Tribune

Criticism --

Wesley Morris of The Boston Globe

Editorial Writing --

No Award

Editorial Cartooning --

Matt Wuerker of POLITICO

Breaking News Photography --

Massoud Hossaini of Agence France-Presse

Feature Photography --

Craig F. Walker of The Denver Post

LETTERS AND DRAMA

Fiction --

No Award

Drama --

Water by the Spoonful by Quiara Alegría Hudes

History --

Malcolm X: A Life of Reinvention by the late Manning Marable (Viking)

Biography --

George F. Kennan: An American Life by John Lewis Gaddis (The Penguin Press)

Poetry --

Life on Mars by Tracy K. Smith (Graywolf Press)

General Nonfiction --

The Swerve: How the World Became Modern by Stephen Greenblatt (W.W. Norton and Company)

MUSIC

Silent Night: Opera in Two Acts by Kevin Puts, commissioned and premiered by the Minnesota Opera in Minneapolis on November 12, 2011.

4.16.12