

Polaroids of moments from their friendship

Objects fly by

Two friends are packing for college on the night before Friend A has to leave.

B: sigh

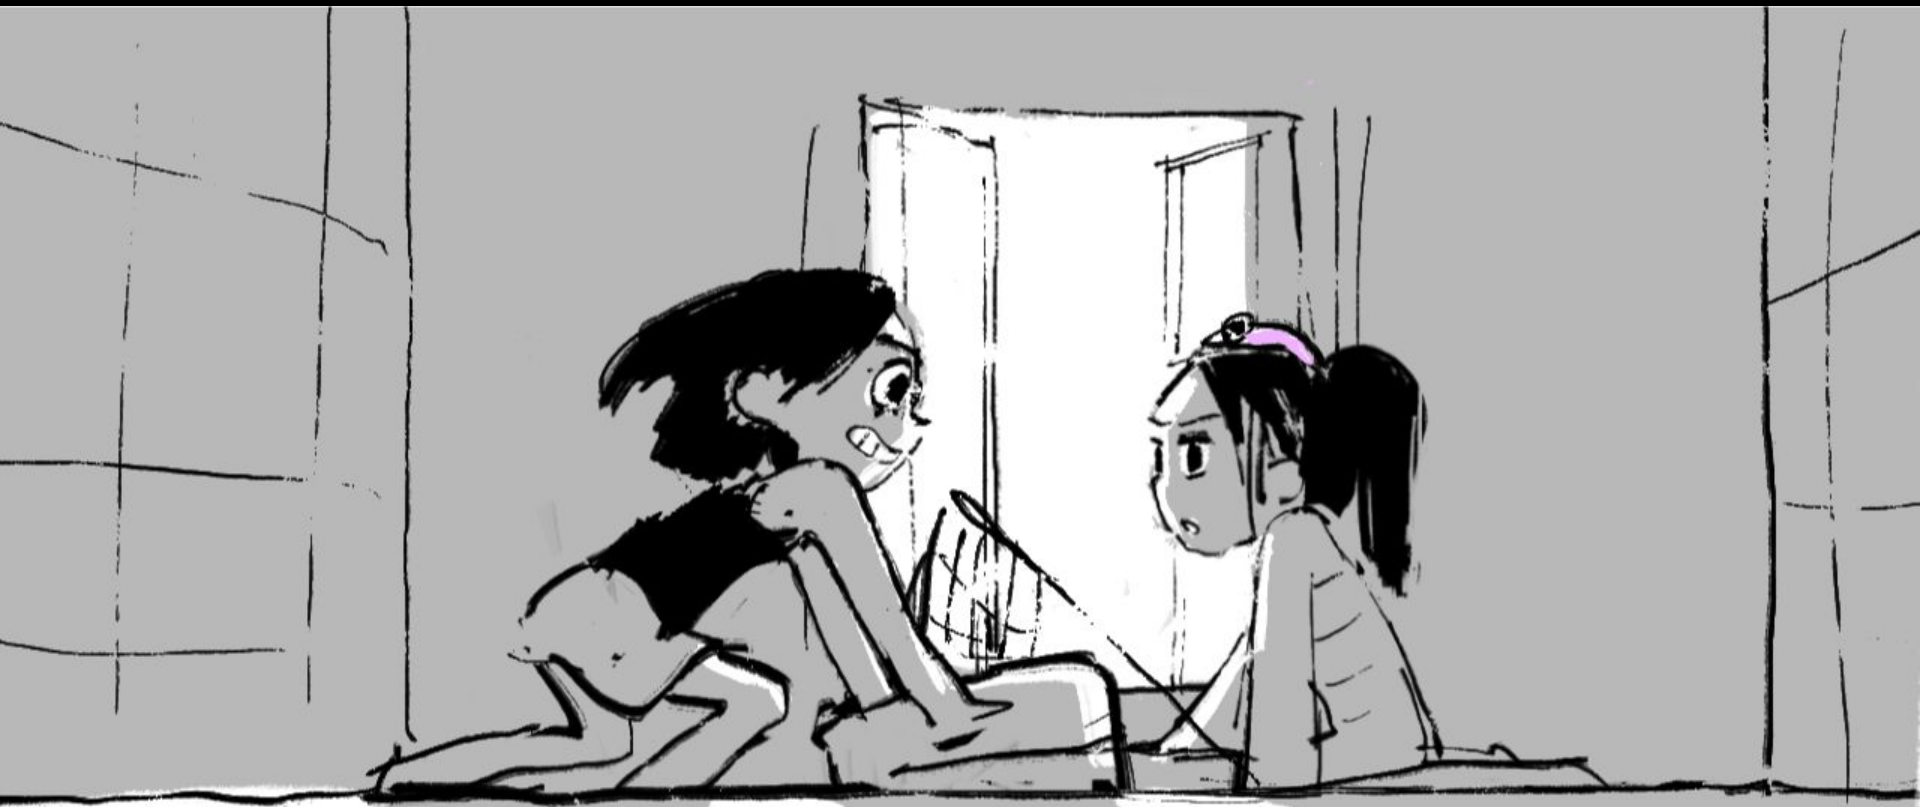

B: Are you gonna pack this too?

A: Hey let's go on one last adventure before I leave

B: An adventure? We don't have time for that anymore

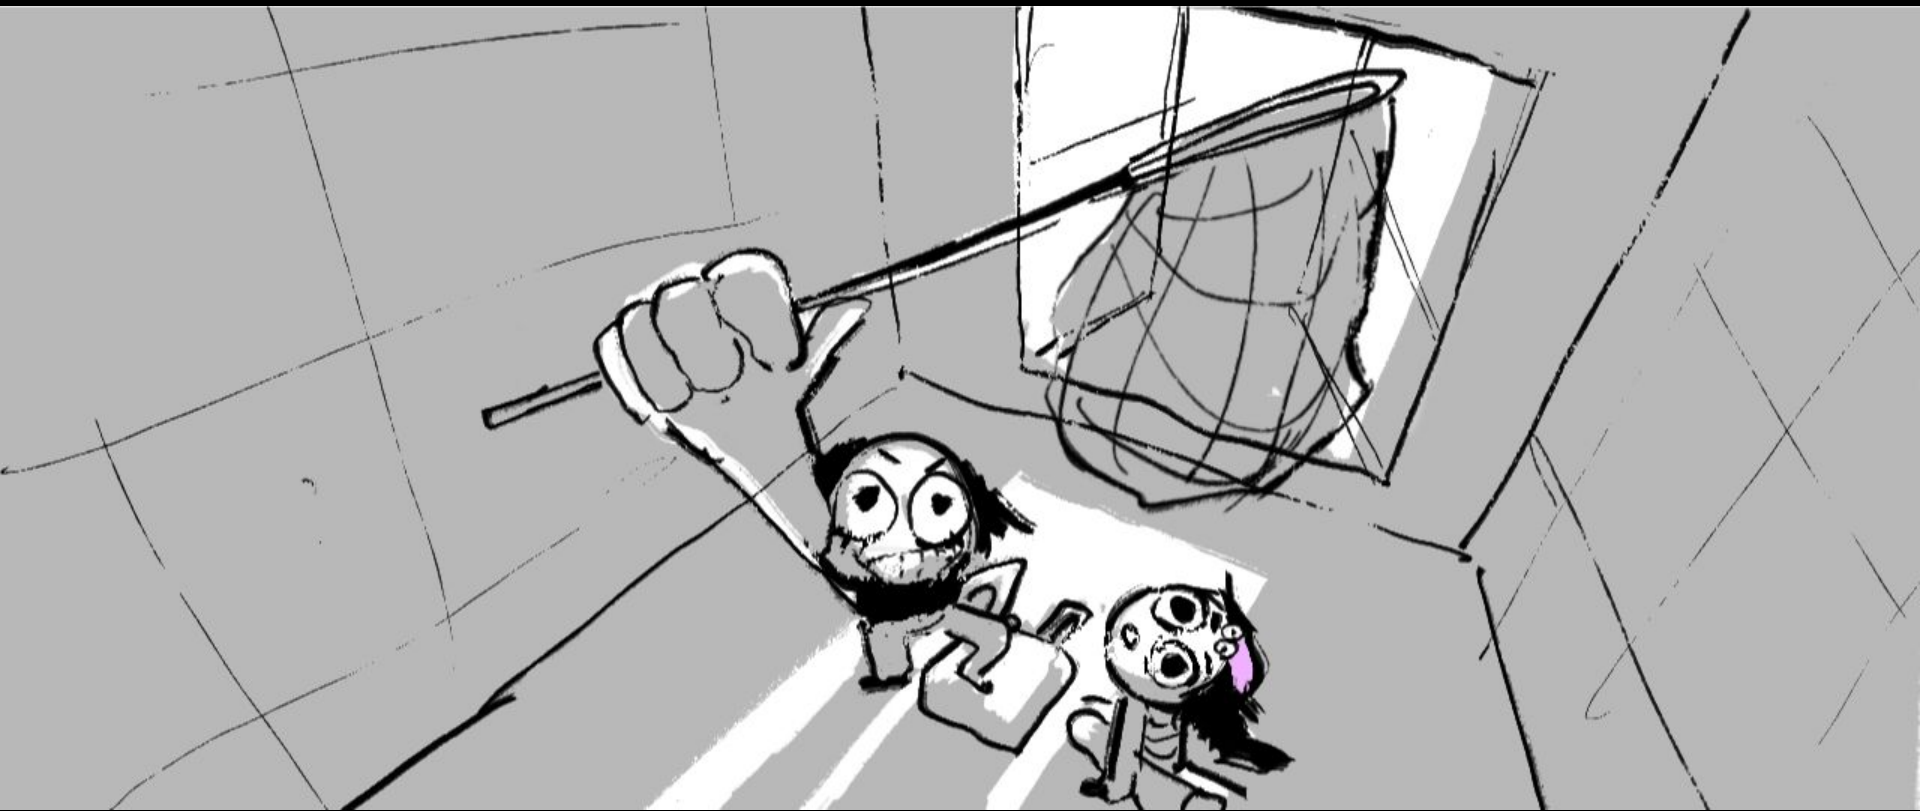

A: Exactly, that's why we're going to catch time!

B: Huh? Catch time?

A: Well you know how time flies?

B: Uhhhhhhh

A: Exactly, that's why we're going to catch time, with this!

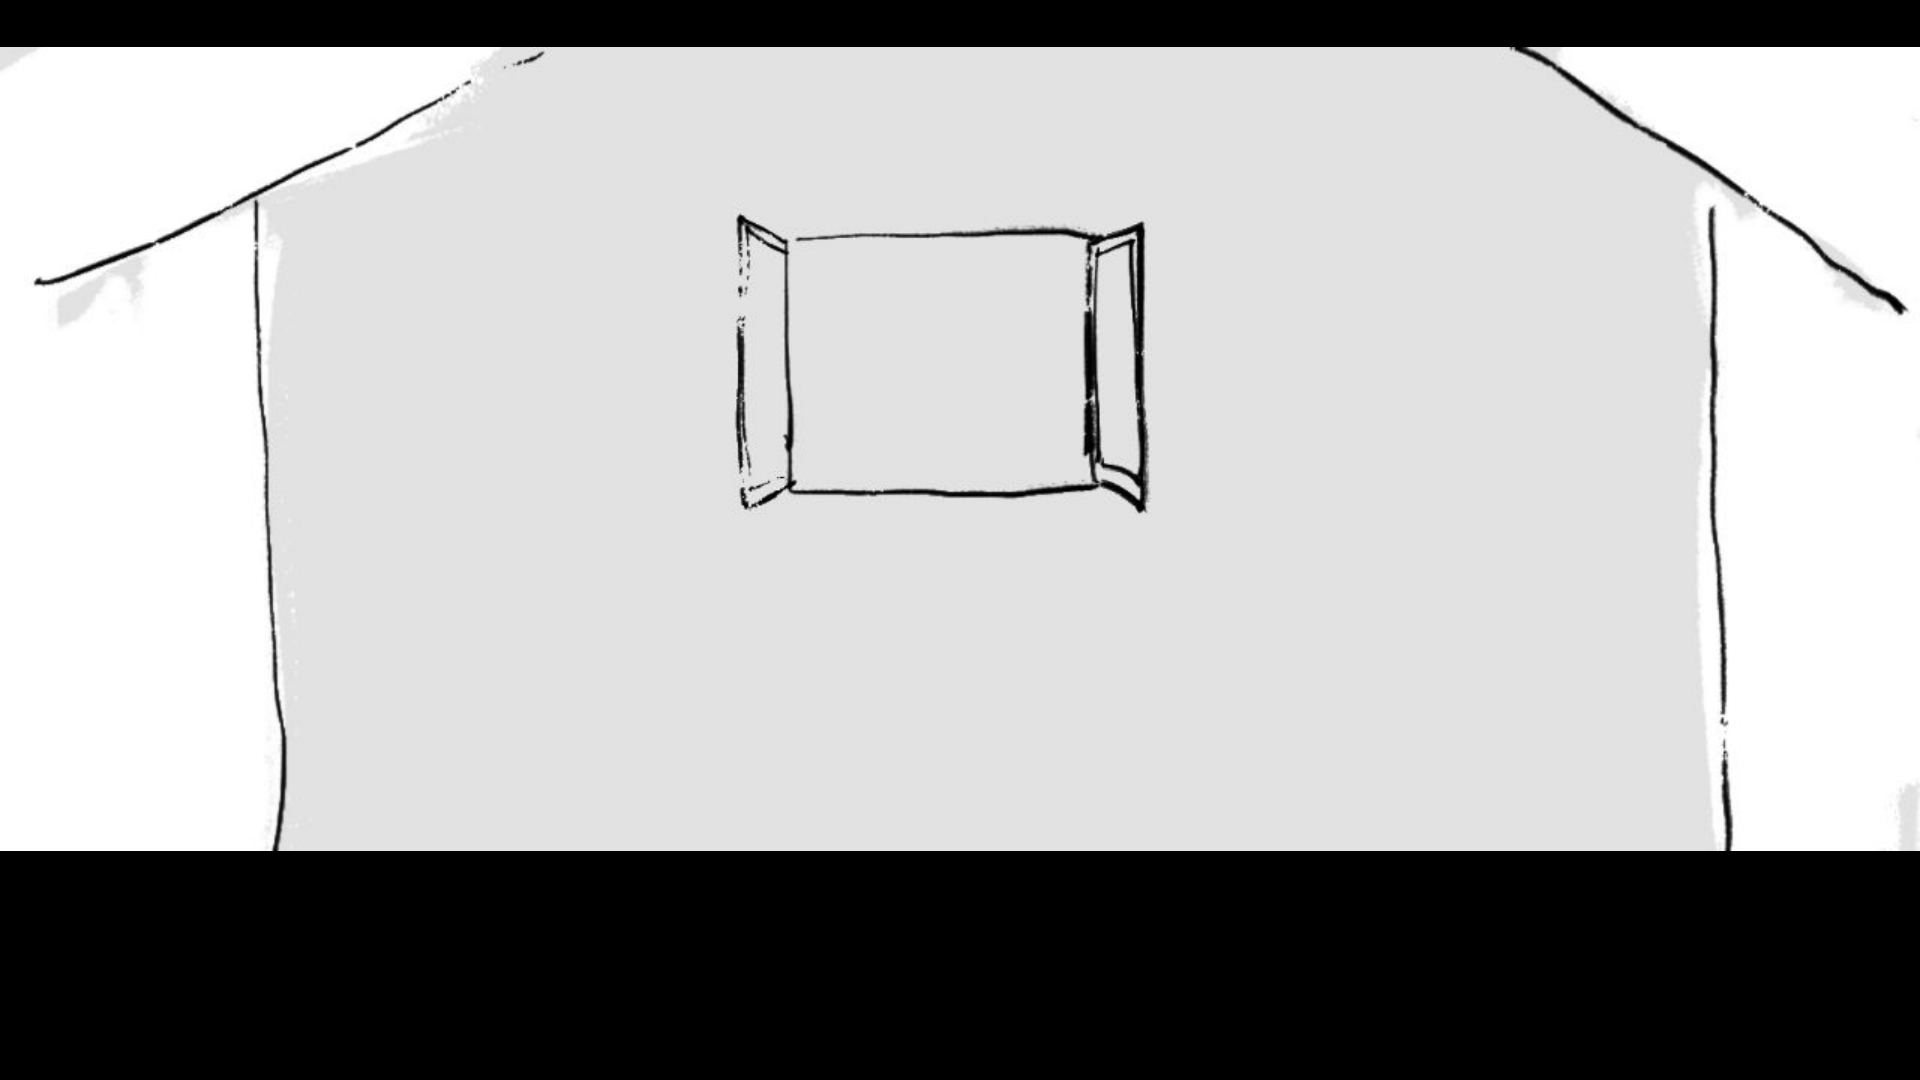

B: you can't just catch time

A: Sure you can it'll be just like the old times, let's go!

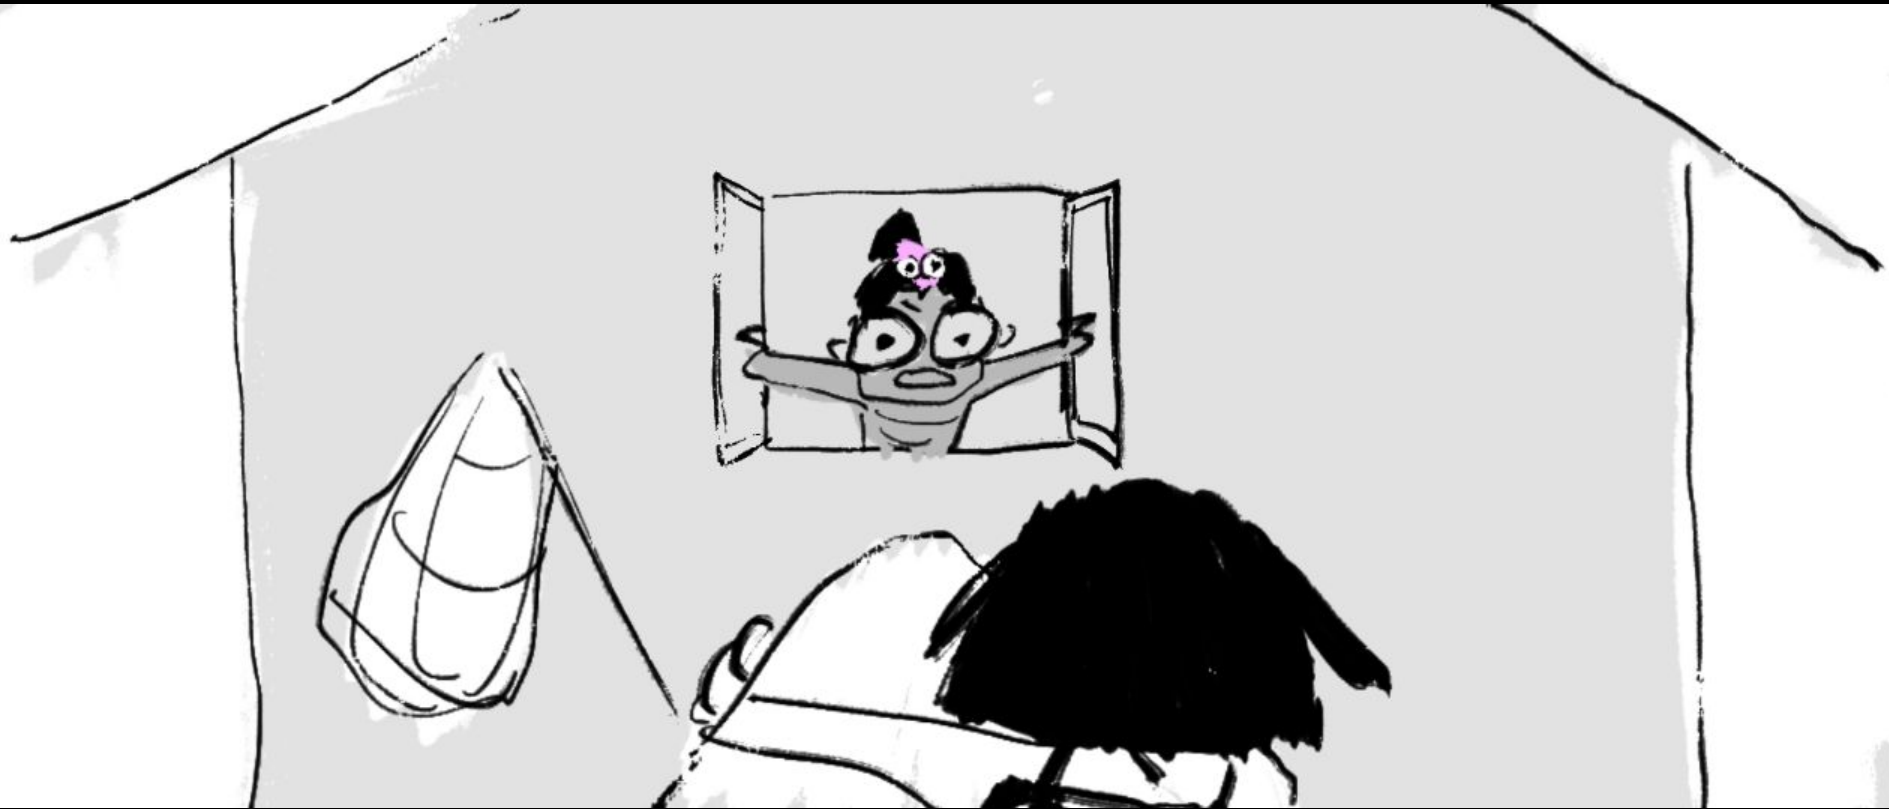

Friend A jumps out the window

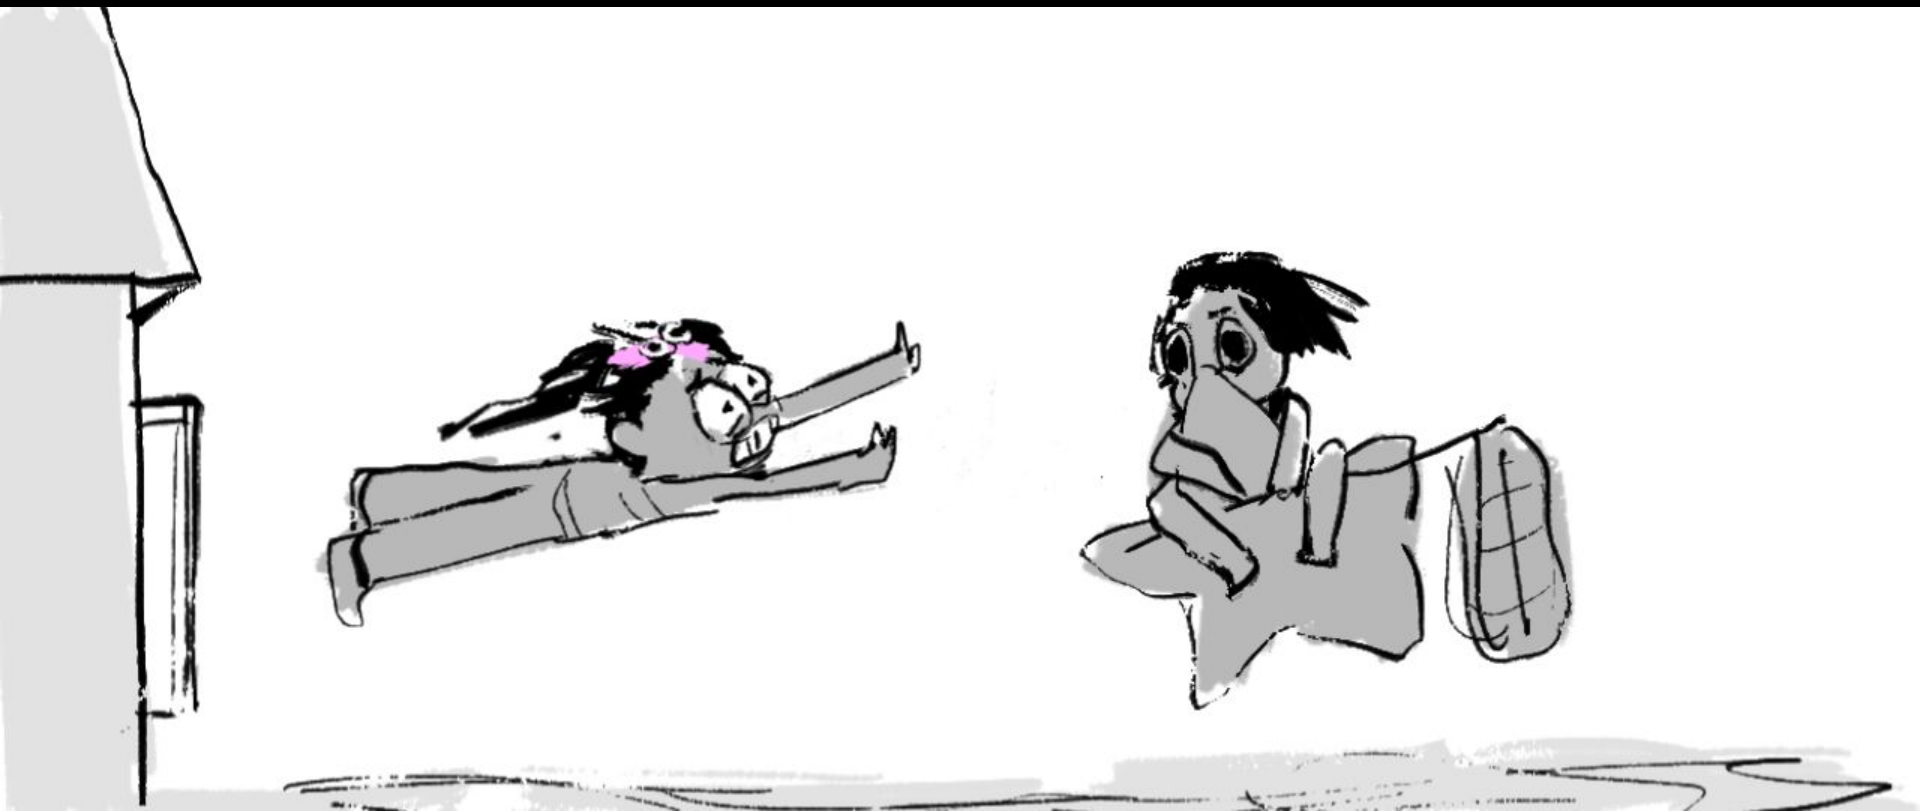

Rushes to window

Friend A is hanging from a shooting star

B: Wait, wait for me!

screaming

screaming

screaming

B: Is this a bad time to say I'm scared of heights

A: c'mon its not that bad wait I think I see time

B: wait are you seriously jumping right now

B: Hey

B: HEY!

and start hopping from star to star to catch anything that flies

and start hopping from star to star to catch anything that flies

B: I really don't think that's time

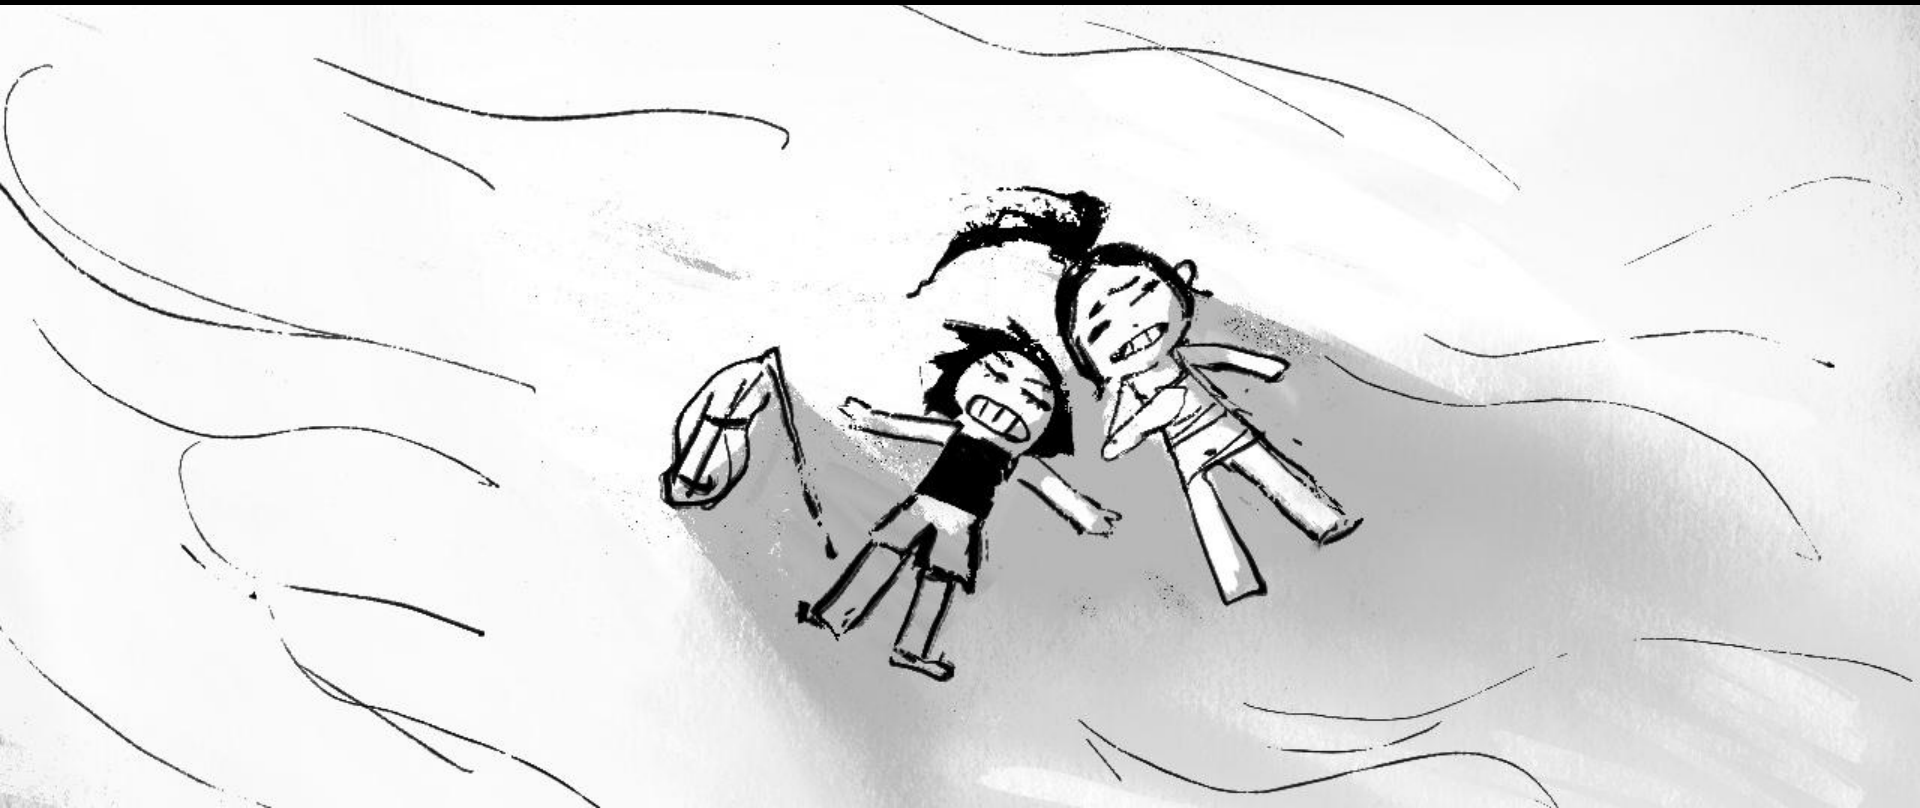

A: But it's flying!

Screaming

A space worm eats them and they travel through a wormhole back to earth.

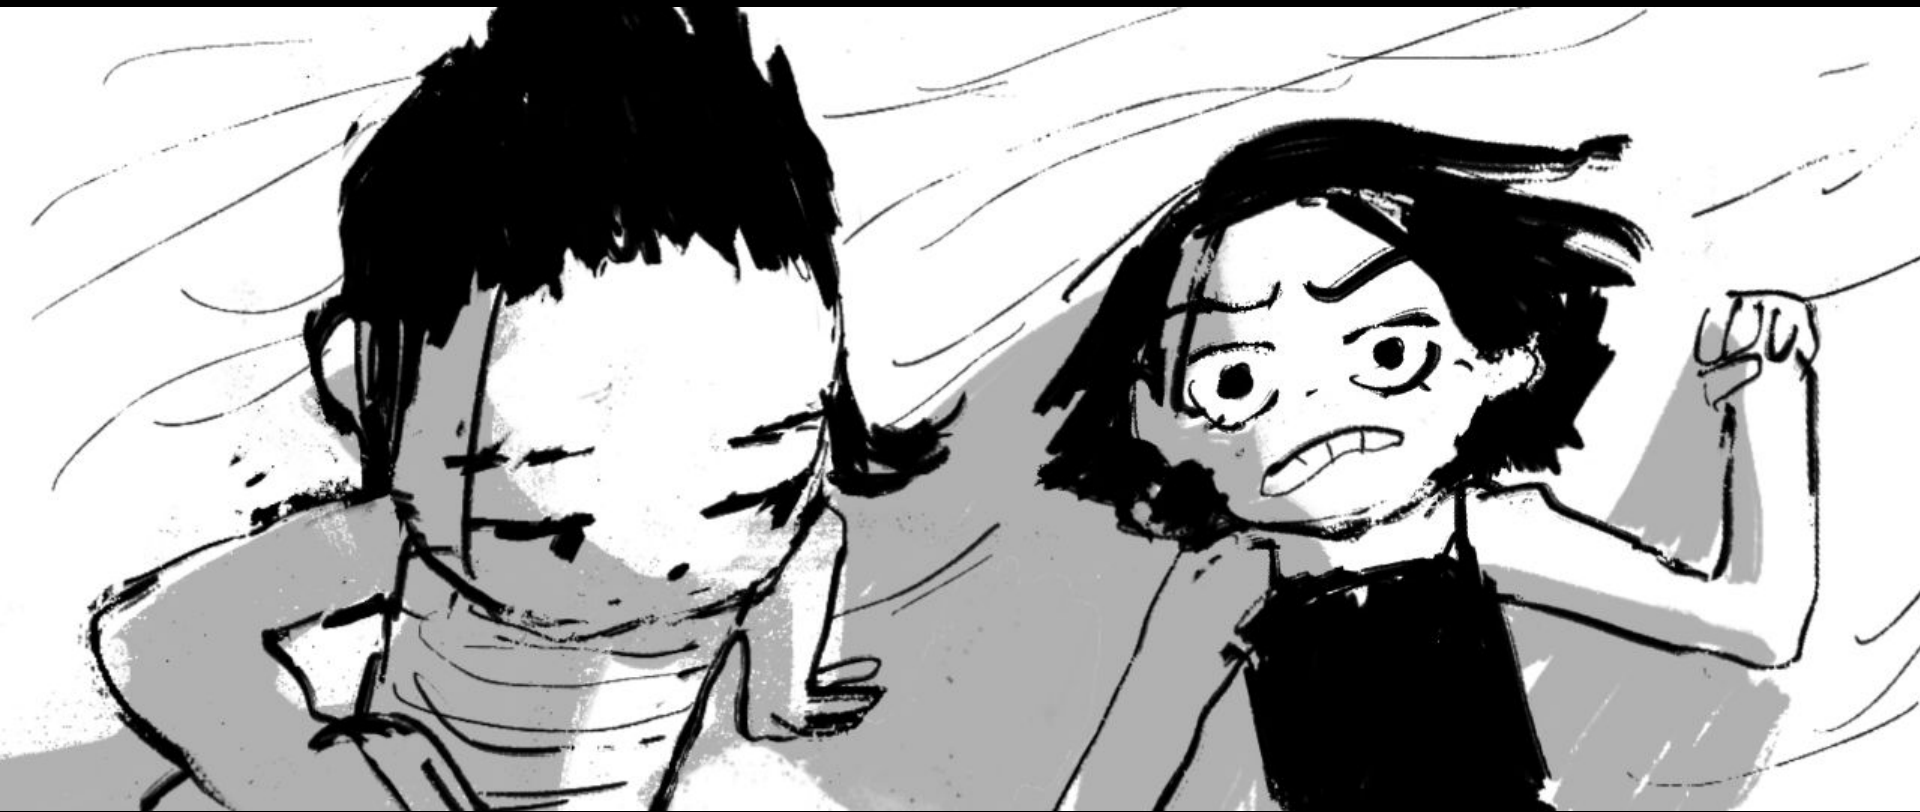

The sun is starting to rise and their adventure seems to be over

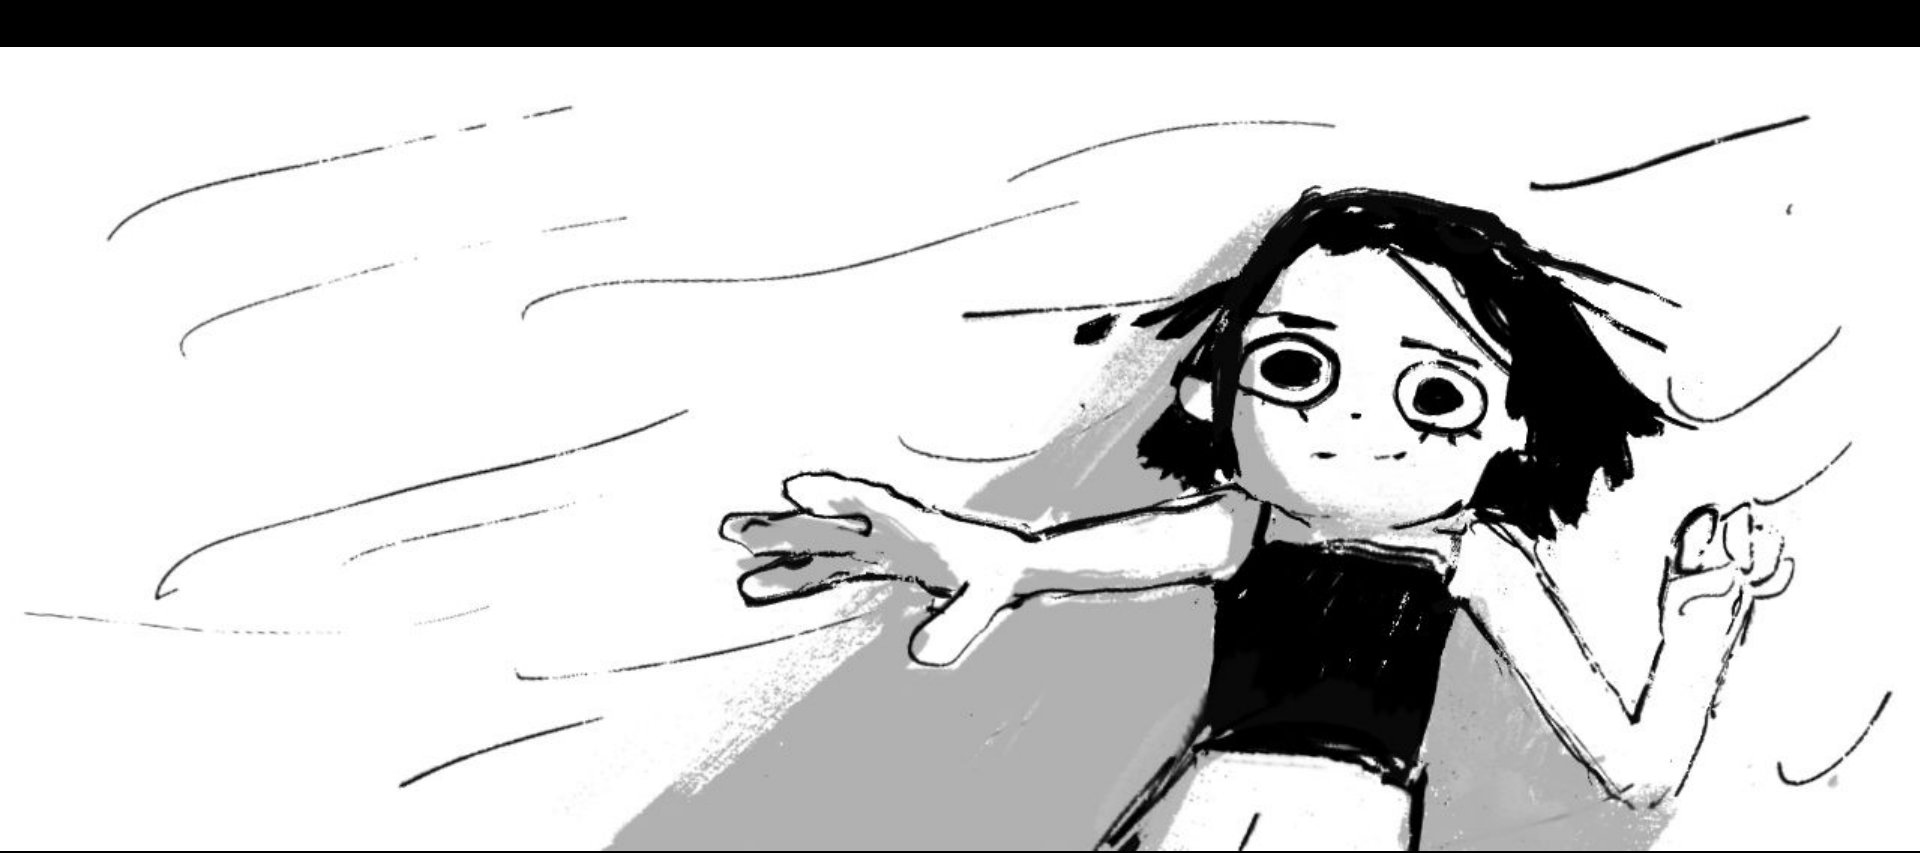

A: noooooo we were so close

B: haha next time

B: haha next time

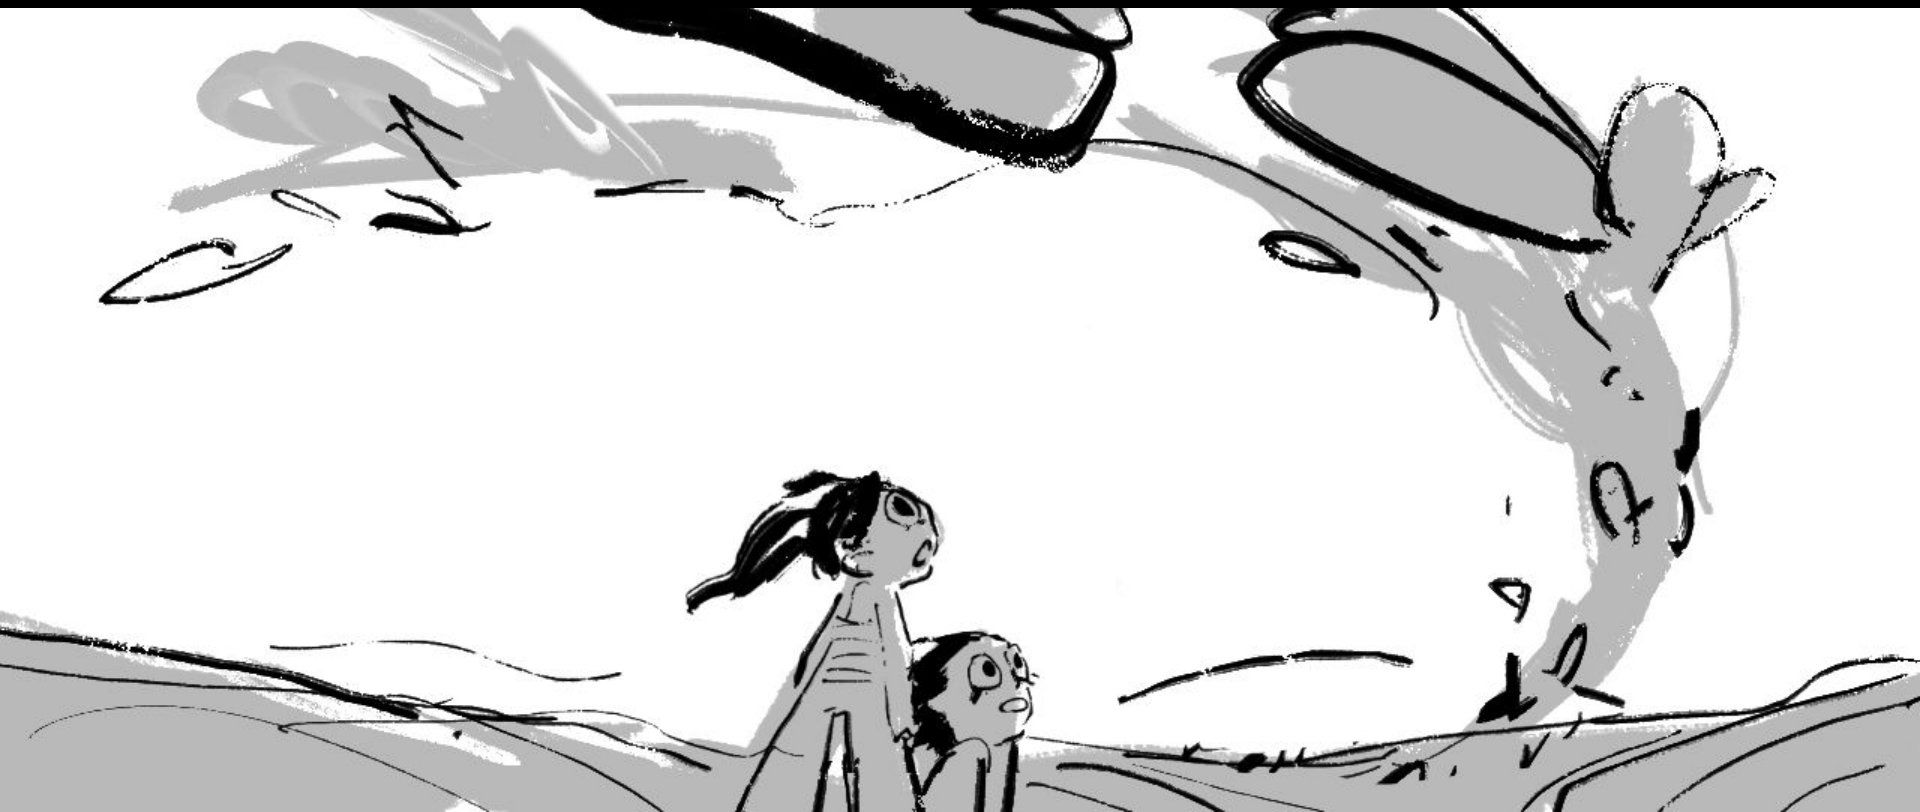

B: i'm really gonna miss you

Suddenly a swarm of butterflies flies overhead

B: Haha I guess time really does fly

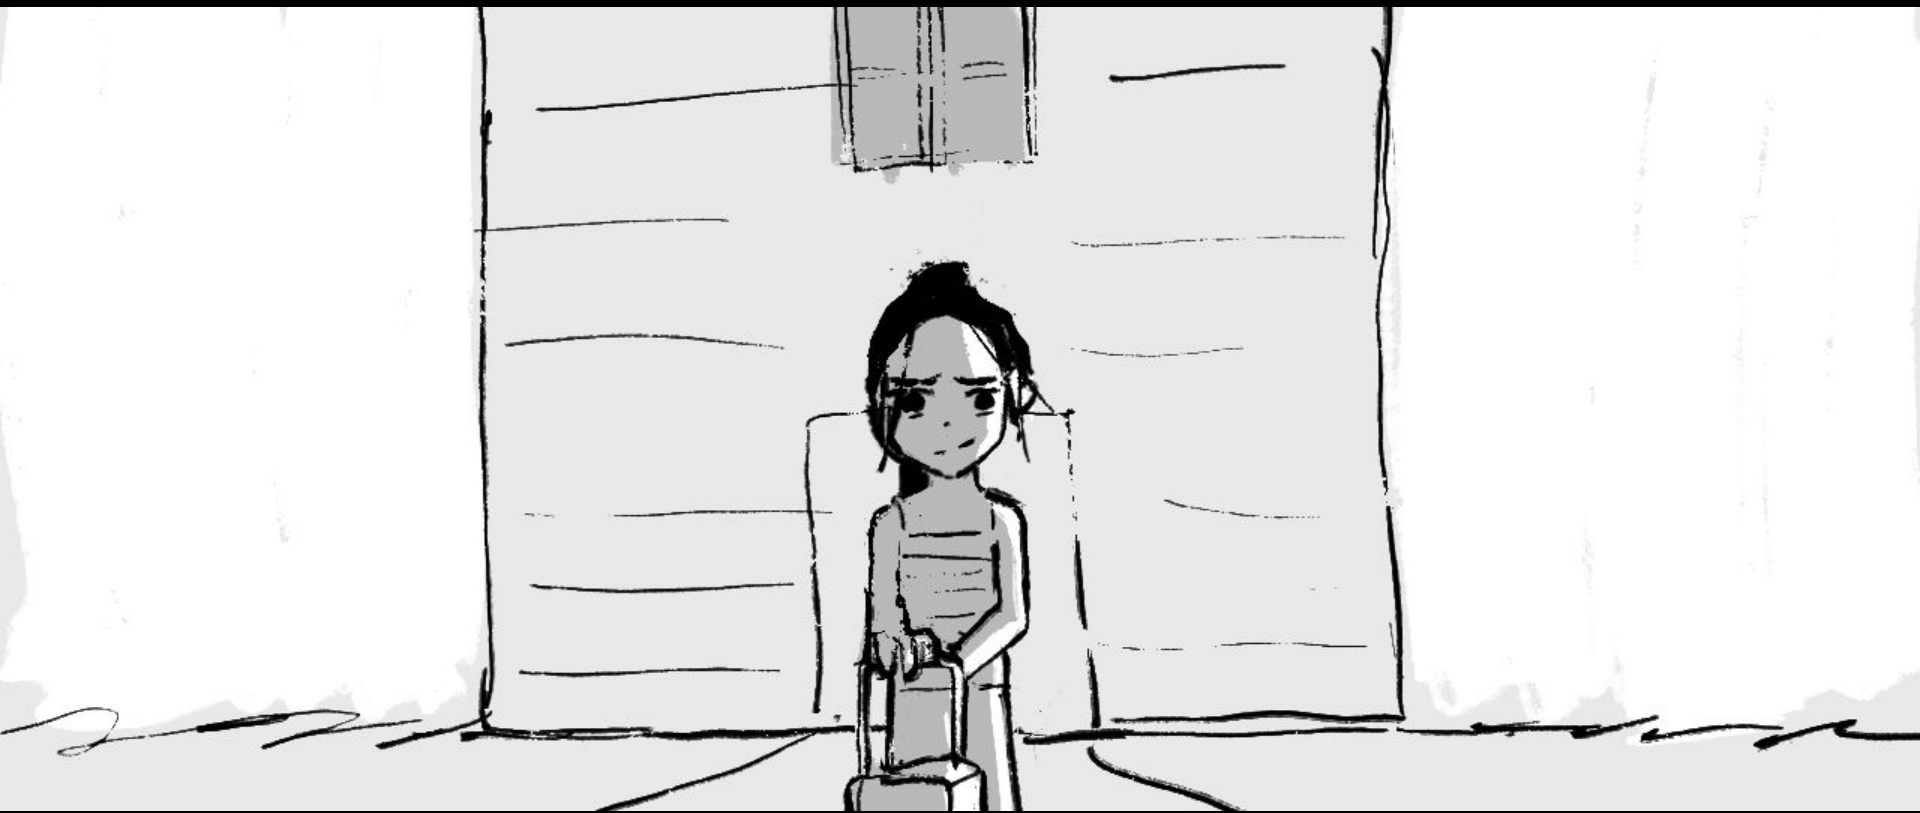

B: when you're having fun

Everything everywhere all at once montage sequence last day of summer

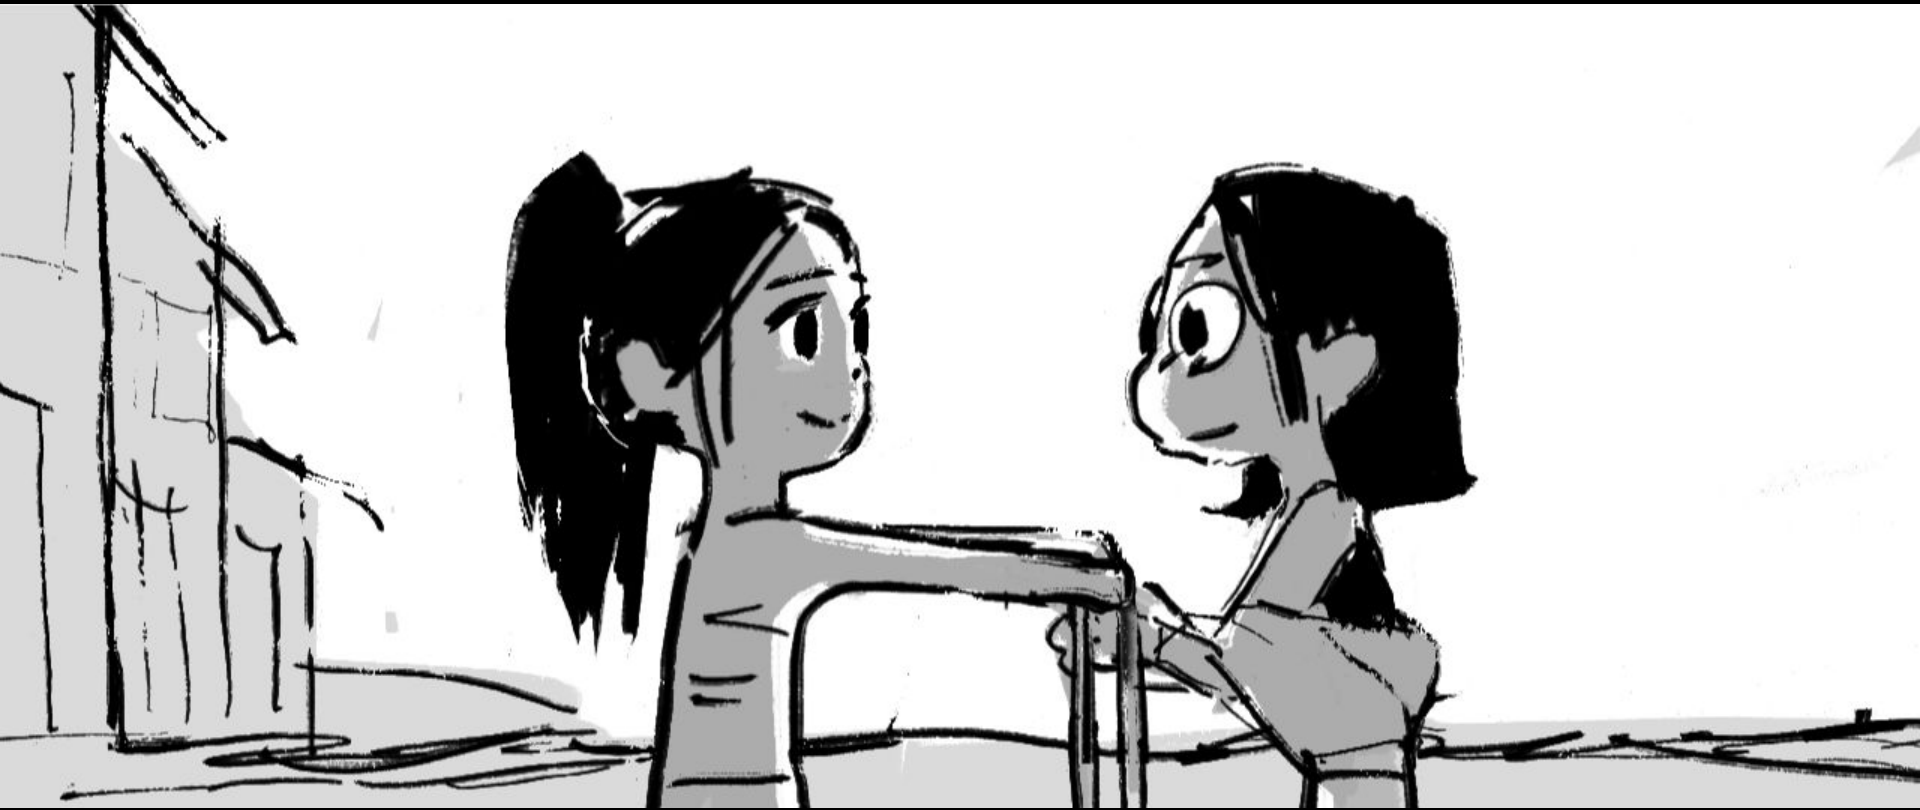

Memories of them running around and summer fly by

Friend B holds suitcase at the doorstep

A: I can't believe we wasted all that time trying to catch it

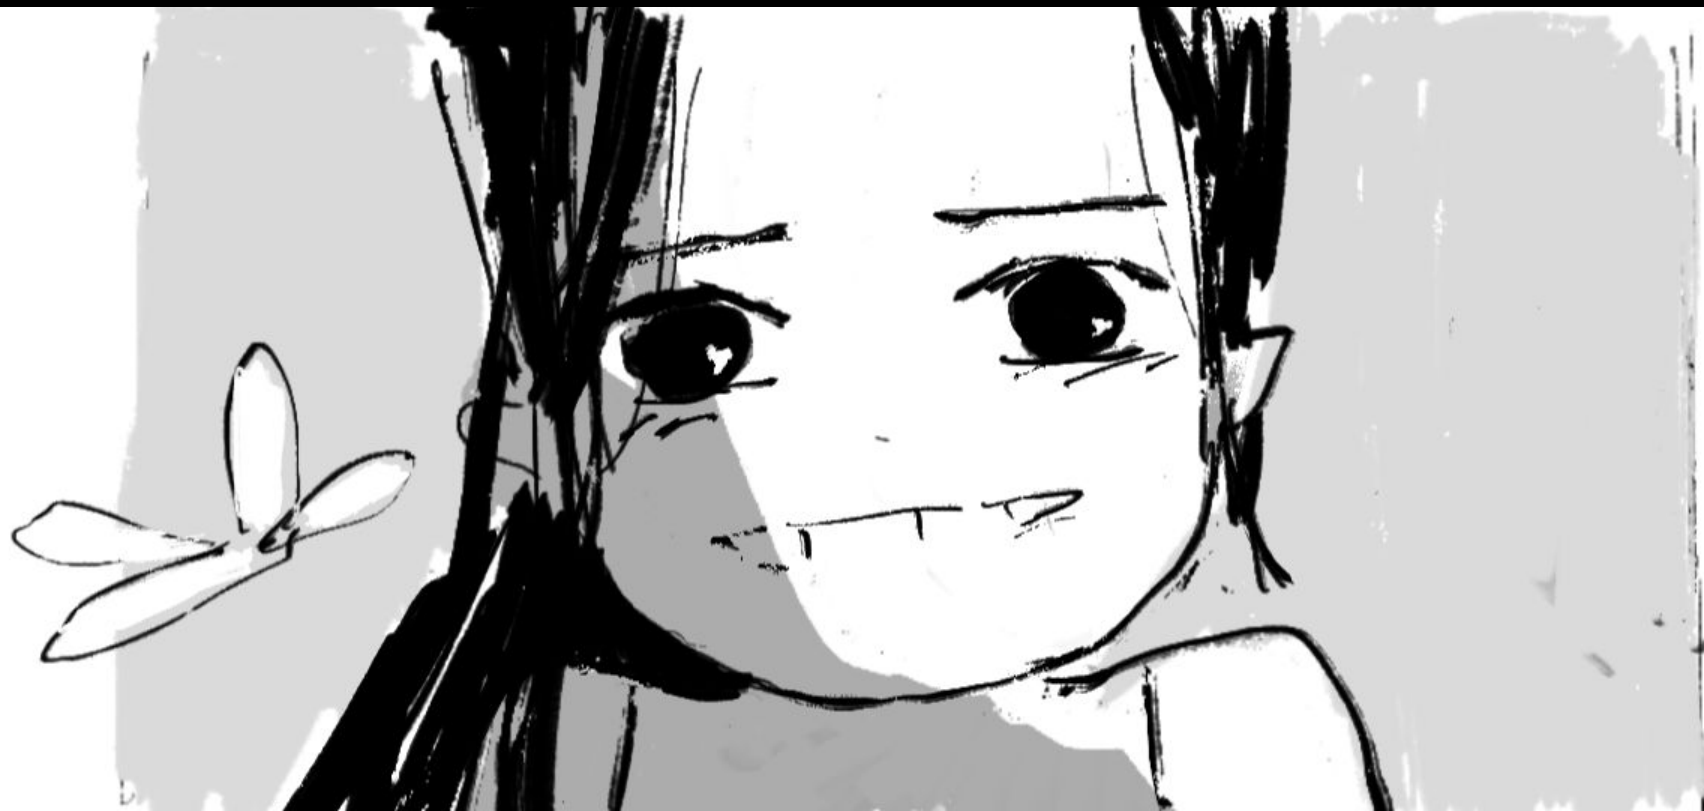

B: don't worry it wasn't wasted

A: yeah?

B: Yeah