FAQ

Why does a 'Primary contact person' need to provide their personal information?
The Primary contact person is the person who has access to the Selling on Amazon payment account, provides the registration information on behalf of the account holder (the registered seller) and initiates transactions such as disbursements and refunds. Actions taken by the Primary point of contact are deemed to be taken by the account holder.

Who is a Beneficial owner?
Beneficial owners own or control the business through direct or indirect ownership of 25% or more of the shares, or voting rights of the business, or any other person who otherwise exercises control over business management.

What if my business is held by another company?
If another company (parent company) owns enough shares (25% or more) or voting rights in the registered business, the beneficial owners of the parent company have to be added to the beneficial owners list. We may ask this information if needed once you have completed registration.

Who is the 'Legal representative' of the business?
A legal representative of the business has specific powers and is legally authorized by your business to manage and act on its behalf (for instance: accepting terms and conditions, opening a payment account, etc.). The legal representative may or may not be an owner of the business.

What should I do if I am the Primary contact person but not the legal representative?
If the person registered as Primary contact is not a legal representative, the legal representative of the registered business provides a letter of authorization. This document authorizes the Primary contact person to act on behalf of the company. We will notify you when the document is required.

How is the Primary contact defined?
The Primary contact person is the person who has access to the Selling on Amazon payment account, provides the registration information on behalf of the account holder (the registered seller) and initiates transactions such as disbursements and refunds. Actions taken by the Primary point of contact are deemed to be taken by the account holder.
