Welcome to the 2016 Wikipedia Edit-a-thon Arte y Cultura Latinoamericana ("WikiArte")

To get started, please check in and sign up for a Wikipedia account in the lobby.

WikiArte Meet Up Page with Useful Links:
http://bit.ly/2eqsBfc

Wiki markup cheat sheet: http://bit.ly/1XPKof8

Today's goal is to communally create, update and translate Wikipedia articles related to Latin American art and culture. Tutorials for beginner Wikipedians, reference materials, childcare, and refreshments will be provided.

To document all Wikipedia edits made today:
1. Sign into the meetup page: http://bit.ly/2eqsBfc
2. Add all articles you worked on to the meetup page: http://bit.ly/2eqsBfc
3. Tag your social media posts with #WikiArte

Getting started…
If you don't have a Wikipedia account, we can help you create one in the lobby.

Free Public WiFi: Select MoMA WiFi. Accept the terms and conditions. No password needed.

Loaner laptops: There a number of laptops available to borrow for use in the Archives on floor 6. No food or drinks allowed. You will be required to sign in and leave an ID.

How do I learn to edit Wikipedia?
Experienced Wikipedians will lead training sessions at 11:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m., and 3:30 p.m. in the Time Warner Screening Room on Floor 2. No food or drink allowed.

- Training videos: http://art.plusfeminism.org/resources/training/
- Wiki markup cheat sheet: http://bit.ly/1XPKof8
- Wikipedia training resources in Spanish: http://bit.ly/2drC9J4

What should I work on?
If you have 1 hour or less, attend a training to learn more about editing Wikipedia.
If you have 90 minutes, attend a training and add citations to an article.
If you have 2+ hours, attend a training and breakout session and make edits to an article. Create a new article or translate existing articles.

You can see a list of articles that need creation, editing or translation here: http://bit.ly/2eqsBfc

The Edit-a-thon takes place on multiple floors:

FLOOR 1: LOBBY
Sign in and account creation

MEZZANINE LEVEL (BELOW GROUND FLOOR)
Bartos Theater
10:00 AM: Public Program
This year's edit-a-thon kicks off at 10:00 a.m. with an hour-long conversation exploring the ways in which Latin American/Latina women artists are experimenting with and employing digital tools to engage with communities, share ideas, and make new work. The panel will feature artists Sol Aramendi, Sharon Lee De La Cruz, and Marisa Morán Jahn, and will be moderated by Rocío Aranda-Alvarado, curator at El Museo del Barrio. Live-streamed and archived here: http://bit.ly/2dSH2ab

Afternoon: Breakout Sessions
Come learn more about the following topics in these informal breakout sessions.

- 1:00 PM: Wikipedia's Gender Gap (Jackie Mabey)
- 2:30 PM: Translating Wikipedia Articles (Richard Knipel)
- 4:00 PM: Art Copyright and Wikipedia (Sergio Muñoz Sarmiento)

Classroom B
Childcare (requires an advanced RSVP)

Mezzanine Lobby
5:00 PM: Join us for a celebratory reception

FLOOR 2
Time Warner Screening Room
Experienced Wikipedians will offer trainings on how to edit Wikipedia articles at 11:30 AM, 1:30 PM. and 3:30 PM. No food or drink allowed.

Lounge
Stop by for coffee, lunch and other refreshments throughout the day.

FLOOR 6
Library & Archives
Come research, write, edit and translate workspace for communal editing. A Librarian and trained Wikipedians will be on hand to answer questions. No food or drink allowed.

Need help? There are many staff and volunteers on hand to field your questions. Please ask us for help!

Thank you for participating!

WikiArte is organized by The Museum of Modern Art in collaboration with the Colección Patricia Phelps de Cisneros and Wikimedia NYC.