PERFORMANCE

SYNOPSIS

The Nanacatepec rock is traversed by a network that extends without a defined shape. It communicates both below and above the earth with living and dead beings. Its fruits, in the form of rhizomes and branching networks of fungi, are creators and transformers of everything in the world. Using multiple projections of films and objects in a 16mm film performance, the two artists create an irresistible visual eddy of nature shots and shadow plays.

SYNOPSIS

From the watchtower on a beach on the Côte d'Azur, a voyeur camera becomes a silent witness of the daily life of people during their moments of leisure and rest. However, through some esoteric texts of Trans-Himalayan Buddhism, hidden secrets about the past and future of humanity will be revealed. These teachings reveal a deep analysis that observes man from a cosmic perspective. The film explores the goal, destiny and path of human evolution, from the initial efforts to the fall on the moon, the link with other kingdoms of nature and its relationship with the Planetary Logos and the Solar Logos. It presents the path that awaits each human being in his connection with the universe, even when he is not yet aware of it.

Of Horses and Guitars

[De caballos y guitarras]

Director: Pedro G. Romero

New Spanish Films - Winter / Spring 2024

2023 - Spain - 97'

EXPERIMENTAL

Art / Musical / Experimental

SYNOPSIS

"Of Horses and Guitars" is a musical, but also a reflection on looking, on trying to escape the anthropocentric gaze, and on the act of looking itself in cinema. It is basically a horse film, a film about a guitar concert for horses held at Bramante's Tempietto in Rome: a true symbol of the ideas of window, perspective and reason, which established a way of looking that has become hegemonic.

SYNOPSIS

"What is the point of love songs" is a documentary that invites us to reflect on how time goes on, emotions, and without a doubt, the role of love in songs. A real journey based on interviews, fiction scenes and the recording of an album from its creation in the privacy of the author to its final production in the studio.

DOCUMENTARY - NON FICTION

Drama / Biography / Experimental / Feminism

SYNOPSIS

Amaya delves into the love stories she had between the ages of 18 and 38 and confronts how her illusions and failures collided explosively. Seemingly personal, her turn and evolution can also be read from a political or anthropological point of view, reflecting the changing role of women in relationships.

A poignant and intimate statement, masterfully crafted with a diversity of techniques using animation and personal videos.
