Using higher education as a case study in soft power, this book delves into the ways both the State and the Student engage in critical geopolitics.

Summerfield focuses on ethnographic elements of language, family, culture, and history. The book includes twenty-five writing prompts, and twenty-plus images to engage reader response by the individual reader, and for introductory writing courses, graduate and professional programs, and in community writing groups.

Questo volume offre una prima mappatura critica dei personaggi leviani, e mira a dare avvio a indagini sulla loro costruzione, sulla loro configurazione narrativa e linguistica, così come sul loro statuto ontologico all'interno del mondo possibile dell'universo letterario.

Il saggio analizza le memorie editoriali di Calasso. Partendo da un'indagine sulle tecniche narrative utilizzate, arriva a delineare il rapporto tra la storia di Adelphi e la sua resa all'interno del racconto dell'editore. Si vuole dimostrare come alcuni specifici casi editoriali si trasformano in nuclei narrativi.

In the world's honor and face cultures, values related to a family's reputation are deep-rooted. When individuals violate them, the honor of the deviant's in-group itself is damaged, leading to stigmatization and rejection. Punishments range from psychological to physical violence. The Voices of the Fourth Gospel challenges its readers to hear the voices of each character from the historical memory of the Johannine church through five character case-studies: 1) the Disciple whom Jesus Loved, 2) Jesus of Nazareth, 3) John the Baptist, 4) Nicodemus.

This book spells out that doctrinal agreement in Part I, while Part II uncovers a more personal reaction, structured around the Nicene Creed.
