PROGRAMMING HIGHLIGHTS

WYES Programming Note: WYES' daytime lineup is changing. Starting Monday, February 6th, WYES' children's programming will shift each weekday at 2pm to the PBS Kids channel. This is available 24/7 on WYES Channel 12.4 and on the free WYES, PBS and PBS Kids Apps. More of the primetime PBS programming you enjoy will appear weekday afternoons. Get the full program schedule at wyes.org.

STEPPI' OUT "It's Carnival Time"

Thursday, February 2 at 7:30pm; repeats Saturday, February 4 at 5pm; Sunday, February 5 at 6pm; Wednesday, February 8 at 2pm; Thursday, February 16 at 7pm; Friday, February 17 at 11pm; Sunday, February 19 at 9:30pm; Sunday, February 20 at 3:30 pm; Tuesday, February 21 at 9am

Host Peggy Scott Laborde welcomes Carnival historians Arthur Hardy, publisher of Arthur Hardy's Mardi Gras Guide, and Errol Laborde, executive editor of Louisiana Life Magazine, for an annual overview of the season. Topics this year include krewe anniversaries, the continuing shortage of New Orleans Police personnel, and the growth of krewe membership.

AMERICA REFRAMED "Big Chief, Black Hawk"

Saturday, February 18 at 9pm; repeats Tuesday, February 21 at 5pm

Big Chief T is a high school senior and the youngest Mardi Gras Indian Big Chief in New Orleans. During COVID-19, he and the Black Hawk Hunters navigate the impacts of gentrification and systemic racism on their annual masking tradition. Through haute couture, movement, and words, BIG CHIEF, BLACK HAWK celebrates the beauty and resilience of "the culture" even in the face of crisis and change. Photo Credit: Jonathan Isaac Jackson

THE 2023 REX BALL AND MEETING OF THE COURTS OF REX AND COMUS

Tuesday, February 21 at 7pm & 11:30pm

WYES presents the 2023 Rex Ball along with the historic Meeting of the Courts of Rex and the Mistick Krewe of Comus. Founded in 1857, Comus, is New Orleans' oldest Carnival organization and stages its pageantry on the same evening as Rex, founded in 1872. WYES host/producer Peggy Scott Laborde, along with Errol Laborde, Carnival historian and author of Mardi Gras: Chronicles of the New Orleans Carnival, and Will French, Rex Organization historian, provide commentary throughout the evening. The program contains interviews with past and present Rex and Comus royalty along with some historical video vignettes, including a feature on recently discovered footage of the 1898 Rex Parade. Mardi Gras historian Arthur Hardy will also be interviewed. Producers are Barbara Sillery and Terri Landry. Executive Producers are Peggy Scott Laborde and Jim Moriarty. Photo Credit: Kathy Anderson

WYES ANTIQUES SHOWCASE with New Orleans Auction Galleries

Saturday, February 4, 2023

WYES Paulette and Frank Stewart Innovation Center for Educational Media | 916 Navarre Ave.

Three separate time slots offered: 10am - Noon | Noon - 2pm | 2pm - 4pm

Tickets: $20-$100

New Ticket Price! $30 —one item to be evaluated + seminars + wine/light bites

Anyone who enters the building MUST have a ticket.*

Q&A with Taylor Eichenwald, Assistant Director, New Orleans Auction Galleries (NOAG)

Why is NOAG participating in this first-time event with WYES?

As one of the country's leading auction companies, NOAG has built strong relationships with collectors from around the world working closely with buyers and sellers to educate. We have the privilege to meet and develop relationships within our community and beyond. While every item we offer in our auctions may not be historic, each piece has a story to be told. Like WYES, NOAG believes in the power of storytelling.

What should participants expect at this event?

Similar to what you have seen on television, NOAG's experts will provide an evaluation of your antique. You will have the opportunity to ask questions and learn about the value of your item. There will also be a video recording area where attendees can share their experience and show their special pieces. Guests will have the chance to hear from three different experts leading seminars about furniture restoration, silver and Louisiana art. Plus, everyone is welcome to enjoy refreshments and light bites throughout the day.

Can you provide some examples when someone was surprised by the value of their item? One of the many reasons we all love what we do is that there are always surprises! There are so many wonderful stories to share, but here are a few memorable moments that come to mind.

We received an inquiry from a couple about an antique garden sculpture that was being removed from their yard. They were unsure of the value, but the wife insisted that they have it evaluated by NOAG before deciding what to do with it. We offered the fountain in an auction with an estimate of $3,000 to $5,000 and it ended up selling for $40,000 with the premium!

A few years ago, a portrait was consigned to us out of a large estate. Upon further research and evaluation at our gallery, we discovered that this was an 18th century work by Thomas Gainsborough! The painting was initially estimated at $15,000 to $25,000, but soared to $200,000 to an international bidder.

Lastly, we offered a collection of mid-century furniture out of an estate several years ago. When the furniture arrived at NOAG, we discovered that it was a custom suite that contained several one-of-a-kind or early examples of this designer's work. One of the pieces, a table estimated at $1,400 to $1,800, realized $40,000 and is now in the permanent collection of the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston. While the heirs knew the significance of what their parents had, you never know what something will bring when it is presented to collectors around the world.

We are excited about the Antiques Showcase and hope to help create many more moments such as these on February 4th! See you there.

Did you KNOWLA?

wyes  PBS

↩ The series of videos feature host Nia Woodside, one of our summer interns, and Jonathan Evans is the videographer/editor.

Have you seen our new WYES digital shorts called "Did You Knowla?" on WYES' YouTube channel?

These fun and informative video shorts take a different view of the people and places that make New Orleans special.

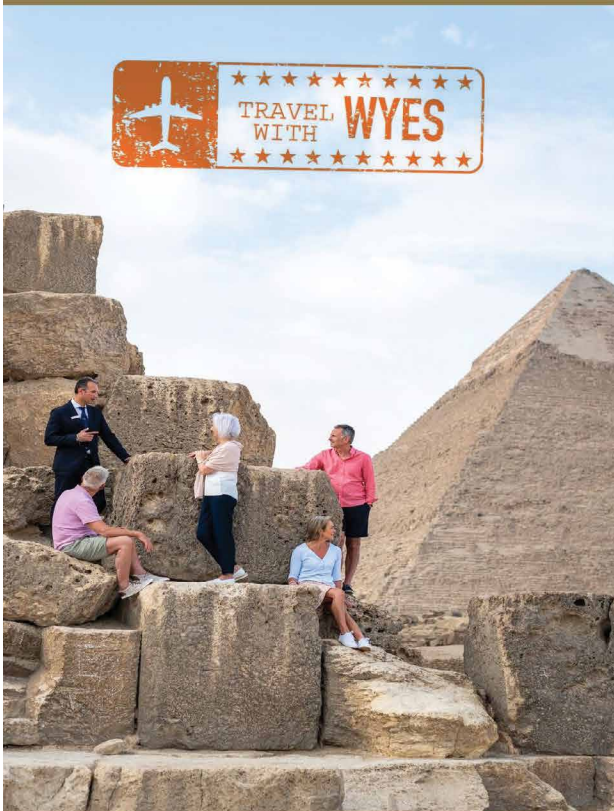

Each digital segment highlights local history drawing from WYES' video archives and continues to showcase WYES' role as New Orleans' storyteller.

"The way viewers are watching our content is rapidly changing, and through these new digital shorts we have made it a priority to come up with new ways to respond to these changes. This also includes our ongoing "Peggy's Piece of the Past" and "Carnival Close-Up" digital series, which have received a great response. We will also continue to offer our new documentaries for a limited time on our YouTube channel and find ways to add digital-only content for future projects," said Robin Cooper, WYES President & CEO.

When you subscribe to WYES' YouTube channel you'll receive notifications when we add a new program and short video, and stay up-to-date on all events and programs coming up. It's easy...head to wyes.org and click the YouTube icon at the very top, then click 'subscribe'.

AMERICA REFRAMED "Big Chief, Black Hawk" Big Chief T is a high school senior and the youngest Mardi Gras Indian Big Chief in New Orleans. During COVID-19, he and the Black Hawk Hunters navigate the impacts of gentrification and systemic racism on their annual masking tradition. Through haute couture, movement, and words, BIG CHIEF, BLACK HAWK celebrates the beauty and resilience of "the culture" even in the face of crisis and change. Photo Credit: Jonathan Isaac Jackson
